Memorandum is to outline status of captioned investigation regarding leak of classified information by Daniel Ellsberg to "The New York Times." Comment is set forth on current investigative problems and notes basis for inability to provide accurate estimate of completion date of Bureau investigation. For information.

For investigative purposes instant matter has been divided into two geographical areas of concentration: Los Angeles and Boston.

Los Angeles Investigation:

The Bureau's investigation at Los Angeles sought to uncover Ellsberg's access to classified material; the degree of such access if it existed; details of the mechanics of Ellsberg's reproduction of documents and identities of individuals assisting him in such an operation; and some insight into the existence of any conspiracy which may have existed between Ellsberg and others to surface the classified data involved. It is felt the investigation at Los Angeles is more than adequate to obtain conviction on the outstanding indictment of Ellsberg for illegal possession and conversion to his own use of the classified information involved. The only area requiring additional inquiry rests in development of full background and implication of Anthony J. Russo, Jr., who assisted Ellsberg in obtaining the confidential information he subsequently leaked to the news media. This investigation is being given intensive and continuing attention to facilitate early indictment of Russo as a co-conspirator with Ellsberg.

Investigation of Russo involves interviews with his associates and additional inquiry into identity and possible involvement of telephonic and personal contacts of Russo's uncovered through our continuing investigation of his activities.

Current plans at Los Angeles by elements of the New Left for a massive demonstration in support of Ellsberg on 11/12/71 poses an additional investigative area of interest. We are exploring these areas vigorously to uncover any possible conspiracy on the part of those groups with Ellsberg in his violation of the Espionage Statutes. It is noted, however, that the surfaced activity of these groups does not readily appear to have any impact on the results of our investigation into the basic violations for which Ellsberg has been indicted at Los Angeles.

Boston Investigation:

Our inquiries in the Boston area lack the substance of an indictment to which we can target our efforts. We are attempting to prove dissemination by Ellsberg to reporters of "The New York Times"; duplication of classified documents by those news media personnel; cooperation with Ellsberg's dissemination efforts by elements of the leftist and intellectual community at Cambridge, Massachusetts; and details of attempts by Ellsberg or his co-conspirators to furnish details of the classified information in this matter to newspapers other than "The New York Times" subsequent to the initial appearance of articles based on the "Pentagon papers" in "The New York Times" on 6/13-15/71.

The results of our investigation at Boston appear to have greater national import than our investigation at Los Angeles based on the possible charges of Government suppression of the news media; violation of the civil rights of the academic community; and current charges by Congressional figures that our investigation infringes on the Congressional immunity enjoyed by those members of Congress. We have successfully uncovered details verifying reproduction of the documents by the news media employees in Cambridge in late March, 1971. We have circumstantial evidence showing that Ellsberg, in fact, was the source of the material reproduced. We have not, however, been successful in obtaining concrete evidence of the mechanics of dissemination utilized by Ellsberg to other newspapers throughout the country, nor have we been able to obtain factual evidence of the complicity in this dissemination operation on the part of elements of the New Left and the academic community in Cambridge. Our investigations are pointed toward the immediate acquisition of such information and all facets of the investigation are receiving continuing attention.

Our investigation at Boston involves extensive inquiry into the identity of telephonic contacts of Ellsberg and his associates in Cambridge, as well as similar investigation into contacts by news media personnel involved in this matter. The Federal Grand Jury at Boston has been temporarily stopped from further inquiry by a court order based on a motion that such inquiry infringes on the Congressional immunity of Senator Mike Gravel, Democrat - Alaska. Delaying tactics by main figures in this investigation when confronted with Grand Jury appearances has additionally delayed obtaining pertinent results in this matter.

OBSERVATIONS:

We can reasonably expect that Ellsberg, his associates and their attorneys will seize every opportunity available to delay inquiries into this matter and hinder early resolution of the charges against Ellsberg. The academic community of Cambridge has realized that this is an outstanding opportunity to test the validity of the Federal Grand Jury as an investigative ploy of the Federal Government and testing of this legal procedure will lead to further delays in ultimate prosecution. An additional delaying factor in this matter arises with the inability of the Department of Defense to pin down the exact identities of documents which have been compromised and to furnish comprehensive reports regarding their findings, despite the fact that such an analysis has been in progress since mid-June, 1971. Department of Defense shortcomings in this matter have been the subject of scrutiny by the White House and Department of Justice and pressure is being exerted on the Department of Defense by those offices to come up with definitive answers to the problems involved in the very near future.

In the light of contemplated delays to be posed by elements of Ellsberg's defense and in view of the continued delays on the part of the Department of Defense as noted, it is impossible to give an accurate estimate of the date when Bureau investigation in this matter can be terminated. ~~Survey and research projects connected~~ in this matter, as well as research into the subject's travels and contacts, pose a problem of continuing supervisory duties which, similarly, have no foreseeable immediate termination.

On 10/6/71, JAN BUTLER, former Top Secret Control Officer, Rand Corporation, Santa Monica, California, advised that she maintained notebooks as a ready reference noting the receipt of Top Secret documents at Rand and the name of any individual to whom the document was charged as well as the date charged. She used these notebooks in this manner from 1/25/67, to 8/31/71. She advised on 10/12/71, that DANIEL ELLSBERG brought two documents to her on 3/13/68, for entry into Rand's Top Secret Control system, "Report of Chairman, JCS on Situation in Vietnam MACV Requirements" and "Alternative Strategies". INVESTIGATION AT RAND CORPORATION

1Date of transcription 10/12/71

[redacted] Rand Corporation, 1700 Main Street, Santa Monica, California, made available xerox copies of the contents of four black notebooks which had been used as part of Rand's accountability system in the handling of Top Secret documents. He advised that this facet of document control is no longer employed at Rand since the responsibility for document control has now been assumed by the Air Force, and they do not employ the same system.

[redacted] described the notebooks as being printed by Boorum and Pease and available in any stationery store. He further described them as Memo Book No. 3810 $\frac{1}{2}$ , measuring 6  $\frac{1}{8}$  by 3  $\frac{7}{8}$  inches containing 144 pages.

[redacted] advised that Jan Butler would have the best knowledge concerning the use to which the notebooks were put since she, during the period of their use, was the Top Secret Control Officer in charge of the Top Secret Section.

[redacted] further advised that [redacted] a Rand Corporation employee, employed in the Document Reproduction Section, had actually made the above copies of these notebooks and had initialled each book in order to preserve the chain of custody for them.

Jan L. Butler, Rand Corporation, 1700 Main Street, Santa Monica, California, telephonically advised that on advice of her attorney, she will not consent to an interview, outside the presence of her attorney, on matters concerning her personal relationship with Daniel Ellsberg. She said that her attorney is Roy Jeppson, a partner in the law firm of Gray and Jeppson, 9025 Wilshire Boulevard, Los Angeles, California.

On matters which relate to her job at Rand Corporation, its systems and document control, she will be more than willing to be interviewed at any time at Rand Corporation.

JAN L. BUTLER, former Top Secret Control Officer, Rand Corporation, 1700 Main Street, Santa Monica, California, advised that as part of her job as the Top Secret Control Officer, it was her responsibility to maintain records showing access to and possession of all Top Secret (TS) documents stored at Rand, Santa Monica. Each document had its own Record of Access form showing to whom access was granted and who had actual possession of the document for whatever reason and the date of that possession during its repose at Rand.

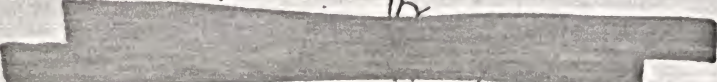

Although these Record of Access forms were always available in her office, she also used a notebook as a handier reference, in which she would record the TS number of the document, the individual to whom it was charged and the date of the charge out, subsequently affixing an undated check mark along side the entry when the document was returned to her control. She also used the notebook to enter the date of receipt at Rand of the document along with its TS number. This information was entered on more official forms, but again the notebook would be a more readily available reference.

She advised she first began to use the first notebook, as evidenced by the first entry, on January 25, 1967, and that notebook concluded on January 9, 1969. Subsequent notebooks included entries from January 10, 1969, through November 24, 1969; November 26, 1969, through August 6, 1970; and August 11, 1970, through August 31, 1971. She said this use was discontinued after August 31, 1971, when document control was assumed by the Air Force; and she does not know if any similar method is now being employed. She also said the notebooks were considered to be Rand Corporation property and were not her personal notebooks and that they were not classified.

In response to questions concerning the meaning of some of the entries, she explained as follows:

The TS number was usually followed by a comma and then a letter or number. This letter or number refers to the specific copy of the document. Since Rand often received numerous copies of each document, it was necessary to assign each copy with its own individual TS number. This was done by assigning it the same number assigned to the original or first copy, and the succeeding copy would then be designated by adding either a letter such as A,B,C,D or a number such as 1,2,3,4 or a combination such as 1A, 1B, 1C and so forth.

On 10/6/71 at Santa Monica, California File # Los Angeles 105-27952

Date dictated 10/13/71

A second question concerned an entry on October 22, 1969, which indicated the receipt of documents bearing Rand TS numbers 3475A and B, 3476A and B, 3477-D and 3478,6. The entry was crossed out, and a notation was made to reorder new key punch cards because the wrong TS numbers had been assigned. The question was raised because these numbers are part of those assigned to the forty-seven volume set of the "McNamara Study". She advised that when that study was received at Rand, Santa Monica, she incorrectly estimated the number of TS numbers required for that group of volumes. As a consequence, before she had a chance to completely assign numbers to all of the documents in that study, another document group arrived to which she assigned the numbers in question. Realizing her error and wishing to maintain a chronological numbering system for the "McNamara Study", she had to assign new numbers to the newer group of documents and reorder key punch cards. She also advised that the documents to which the new numbers were assigned were not Vietnam documents.

She offered the information that the "McNamara Study" forty-seven volume set was numbered as follows: TS-3468, 3469, 3470, 3471, 3472A (B,C,D,E), 3473A (B,C,D,E), 3474A (B through R except for I and O), 3475A and B, 3476A (B,C,D,E,F,G,H,J), 3477, 3478 and 3479A (B,C and D). She added that the letters I and O were never used because they appeared too similar to the numbers 1 and 0 when punched on to key punch cards.

BUTLER advised that upon the advice of her lawyer, ROY JEPPSON of the law firm of GRAY and JEPPSON, 9025 Wilshire Boulevard, Los Angeles, California, she will not answer questions which relate to her personal relationship with DANIEL ELLSBERG, except in the presence of her attorney and preferably in his office. She said any other questions which relate to her position at Rand Corporation, the conducting of business at Rand Corporation including the various systems used for TS control, she will gladly answer at any time.

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

1Date of transcription 10/12/71

Jan L. Butler, Rand Corporation, 1700 Main Street, Santa Monica, California, telephonically contacted the Los Angeles Office of the FBI to offer additional information concerning a matter on which she furnished information on October 5, 1971.

She said that on October 5, 1971, she was asked to review accountability records for the control of Top Secret documents at Rand, Santa Monica, to determine if Daniel Ellsberg ever had possession of Volumes #4, 5, 40 or 43 of the 47 volume "McNamara Study" while it was in Rand's possession. She reviewed the records and was unable to find any such record for those specific volumes.

She said that it later occurred to her that the first volume of the 47 volume set is actually no more than an index to the remaining 46 volumes but that Rand always counted that as the first of the 47 volumes. Furthermore, Rand never assigned numbers such as 1, 2, 3 and so forth to Top Secret documents. Their system employed specially assigned Top Secret numbers. Thus counting down to the 40th volume one finds Rand Top Secret Number 3476H, for which the records fail to reflect that Daniel Ellsberg ever had possession.

Butler suggested that others, referring to the study, may not include the index volume and Volume 40 of a 1-46 volume set would then become the 41st volume in Rand's system. This volume was assigned Rand Top Secret Number 3476J and is reflected in the record as being been charged out by Ellsberg on April 20, 1970.

Butler suggested that rather than numbers, the actual volume titles should be employed whenever any check is made as to Ellsberg's access or possession of the documents.

She further advised that if one considers the set as containing 46 volumes, Volumes 4, 5 and 43 are still not shown as ever having been charged out to Ellsberg.

Date 10/18/71

JAN L. BUTLER, former Top Secret Control Officer, Rand Corporation, 1700 Main Street, Santa Monica, California, advised that to the best of her recollection, DANIEL ELLSBERG brought an eight-page document entitled "Report of Chairman, JCS on Situation in Vietnam and MACV Force Requirements" to her office and requested that it be entered into Rand's Top Secret accountability system. At that time, she did not know the origin of the document nor how ELLSBERG obtained it. She reviewed the records and advised she entered the document on March 13, 1968, and also stated there is no record to indicate that ELLSBERG had courier status to bring the document from Washington, D. C., to Los Angeles. To this document she assigned Rand Top Secret Document Number TS 3234.

BUTLER advised that the records fail to disclose that anyone, other than those indicated on the Top Secret Record of Access forms, had access to or possession of the document. She said that the notation that appears at the top of the Record of Access form, "the existence of this material at Rand is NOT to be disclosed to anyone", means that other than those approved for access, no one else at Rand is to be told of its existence.

She said that DANIEL ELLSBERG, as the one who made the document available, had the only authority to grant access to others. She produced a 4" x 6" card on which are listed the names of individuals approved for access to the document for reading. The card has a handwritten notation at the top that ELLSBERG's verbal approval was required for each person. With the exception of one person, all of the individuals listed on the card are those to whom access was granted by ELLSBERG. Each name is accompanied by the initials D. E. and the letters O. K. meaning that ELLSBERG was giving written approval for their access to the document. The following people were approved as of March 13, 1968: H. S. ROWEN; C. WOLF, Jr.; G. H. SHUBERT; O. HOEFFDING; F. C. IKLE; and D. ELLSBERG. The reason given was a "3/13 meeting on Situation in VN." BUTLER thought that ELLSBERG had wanted to discuss this document

by [REDACTED] Date dictated 10/18/71

as soon as possible, and wanted these people to be conversant with the document before the meeting. Two other people, [REDACTED] were approved on March 15, 1968, and March 25, 1968, respectively, and she did not know why they were approved for access other than they were also involved with various aspects of the study of the Vietnam situation.

BUTLER said that the one name which appears on the Record of Access form but not on the above card is [REDACTED]. He was not approved by ELLSBERG but by JACK MATHEWS of the Rand Security Office on June 18, 1971, for the purpose of handling the document for preparation for shipment back to the Department of Defense. The record does not reflect that AVERCH ever had the document in his possession.

BUTLER suggested that a check be made at the Department of Defense, ISA, Washington, D. C., to determine ELLSBERG's courier status regarding the document.

She also said she knew that JCS material was very difficult to obtain, and she assumed that when JCS material arrived at Rand it was the result of an agreement between a JCS member or Pentagon employee and someone at Rand.

Butler also advised that a second document entitled "Alternative Strategies" was entered into Rand's accountability system on March 13, 1968, by DANIEL ELLSBERG. This document consisted of five pages and was dated February 29, 1968. She assigned number TS-3235 to this document.

Individuals approved by ELLSBERG for access to this document, were [REDACTED] March 13, 1968; [REDACTED] March 13, 1968; [REDACTED] March 13, 1968; [REDACTED] March 13, 1968; [REDACTED] March 15, 1968; [REDACTED] March 25, 1968; [REDACTED] March 29, 1968. She also said that [REDACTED] was approved for access by Security Officer JACK MATHEWS, on June 18, 1971, for the purposes of handling the document prior to sending it back to the Department of Defense in June 1971, but the record does not reflect that [REDACTED] ever actually handled the document.

HENRY S. ROWEN, President, Rand Corporation, 1700 Main Street, Santa Monica, California, advised he cannot recall who or why he was asked to read an eight-page document entitled "Report of Chairman, JCS on Situation in Vietnam and MACV Force Requirements" on March 13, 1968. He scanned a copy of this document, but could not state positively he had never read it. He surmised he was asked to read it because Rand was involved in a study of the Vietnam situation at that time, but he did not recall ever attending a meeting on that specific paper.

ROWEN said he does not know, now, how the document came into Rand's possession nor, if DANIEL ELLSBERG made the document available, if ELLSBERG had courier status to bring the document from Washington, D. C., to Santa Monica, California.

ROWEN said, after looking at the document, he would guess that the document had come into ELLSBERG's possession from someone at the Pentagon, but he did not know this to be factual.

ROWEN said he made no copies of any Top Secret document and presumes he returned this document to the Top Secret Control Office after reading it.

[redacted] Social Sciences Department, Rand Corporation, 1700 Main Street, Santa Monica, California, advised he cannot remember who asked him to read the document "Report of Chairman JCS on Situation in Vietnam and MACV Force Requirements" nor why he was asked to do so except for the fact that he was involved in the Vietnam study being conducted by Rand in 1968. He does not recall attending any specific meeting about that document, but presumes it did take place because it was the habit of those involved in the study to discuss all facets of the study as they pertained to any new document on the subject.

[redacted] said he would imagine that some other person, also involved in the study, would have made him aware of the document. He did not make copies of the document, and would have returned it to the Top Secret Control Office after reading it.

[redacted] Rand Corporation, 1700 Main Street, Santa Monica, California, advised he cannot recall why he would have been specifically asked to read the document entitled "Report of Chairman, JCS on Situation in Vietnam and MACV Force Requirements" nor who asked him to read the document. He said he first started working on the Vietnam situation in 1964, at the request of the former Rand President, and has been involved in the study ever since. He said he has always been included in every discussion about the situation and would presume this was why he was asked to read that document. He could not recall attending a specific meeting concerning that document, and does not know who introduced the document into the Rand system.

He said that Rand does not ask about the generation of papers for study. Their only interest is to get it logged into the Top Secret accountability system.

He said the one person who seemed to be able to get anything he wanted in the way of documents from other sources, was DANIEL ELLSBERG. He admitted to a certain amount of envy in this regard because ELLSBERG always seemed to have an entree to high places that he did not have. [redacted] said it never occurred to him to just ask for documents or to see ones that were not in Rand's possession, but ELLSBERG seemed able to do that and seemed to be successful whenever he asked.

[redacted] advised he would have returned the document to the accountability system and definitely did not make any copies of the document.

[redacted] Rand Corporation, 1700 Main Street, Santa Monica, California, advised that as a member of the Rand Corporation conducting a study into the Vietnam situation, he would naturally have been invited to read the document entitled "Report of Chairman, JCS on Situation in Vietnam and MACV Force Requirements." He could not recall any other specifics about meetings on the document, who advised him of the document, nor how it came into Rand's possession.

[redacted] said he attended a meeting in Washington, D. C., at the office of the Secretary of the Air Force, HAROLD BROWN, during the last week of February 1968. This meeting had to do with the interdiction campaign in Vietnam. He believes, after having scanned the document, that some of the information or portions of the document were read to that group by BROWN, but at this time, with one exception, he could not be specific enough to say which portions he heard. He said he may have read similar reports and be confused as to the origin of his recollection. One portion he positively remembers, deals with the request of General Westmoreland for more planes in February 1968. He repeated that the information given to the interdiction study group could have come from other documents or cables from Vietnam, and the fact it also occurs in the JCS Chairman report might simply be coincidental.

[redacted] did not believe that DANIEL ELLSBERG attended that study group at the office of HAROLD BROWN.

[redacted] said that he made no copies of the document, and would have returned it to the Top Secret Control Office.

[redacted] Rand Corporation, 1700 Main Street, Santa Monica, California; advised as follows regarding a letter of agreement which was directed to HENRY S. ROWEN, President, Rand Corporation, Santa Monica, California, by MORTON HALPERIN, LESLIE GELB, and PAUL WARNKE. [redacted] it has been his task to collect and prepare a history of the various and sundry documents which have been in the possession of Rand, Santa Monica, and which pertain to the disclosure of the "McNamara Study." One of the documents is the original of the above described letter of agreement. He first saw this document in June of 1971, and does not know when it first came into Rand's possession.

While attempting to date this paper, he was advised by [redacted] se, that the date of transmittal should be December 30, 1968, which he, [redacted] then penned onto the paper. Subsequently, in a memorandum for the record, dated June 19, 1971, [redacted] advised that the December 30, 1968, date appeared to be a date of receipt of a particular copy of that paper, and what appears to be an original Department of Defense date stamp of December 18, 1968, appears on a signed copy, and [redacted] presumes that to be the correct date of dispatch of the letter from HALPERIN, GELB, and WARNKE to ROWEN. Therefore, [redacted] said he crossed out the December 30, 1968 date and inked in the December 18, 1968 date. He also said that this original does not contain any typed or stamped date to show transmittal or receipt date. [redacted] also said that the original does not contain any distribution list which appears on the one of the copies of the paper, and he suggested this procedure was followed at the Pentagon. He thought that it takes so long for documents to clear the Pentagon after their generation, that their practice is to not date any original and to date copies and affix a distribution list to the copies after they are prepared.

[REDACTED] also advised that Rand received about two weeks ago, a copy of the letter in question which has what appears to be a stamped date of December 18, 1968, and a distribution list. He thinks this was made from an ink-signed carbon and was sent to Rand, Santa Monica, from Rand, Washington, D. C., but [REDACTED] could not explain why it had been sent out here. He suggested that [REDACTED] of the Rand, Washington, D. C., office might be better able to explain why that copy had been sent to Rand, Santa Monica.

[REDACTED] was unable to explain why the above copy appears to be or to have been prepared from the copy originally designated for [REDACTED]

HENRY S. ROWEN, President, Rand Corporation, 1700 Main Street, Santa Monica, California, advised as follows regarding a letter of agreement which was directed to him by MORTON HALPERIN, LESLIE GELB, and PAUL WARNKE.

ROWEN said he knows that the original of this letter has been in the Rand, Santa Monica, files since some time in 1968, and he presumes it arrived after December 18, 1968, the date inked in on the letter.

He said he has no idea why a copy of this letter, which contains a stamped date of December 18, 1968, and a distribution list, would have been sent along to Rand, Santa Monica, about two weeks ago, nor why it is apparently that copy which had been designated for PAUL WARNKE.

He suggested that [REDACTED] Washington, D.C., would be best able to explain the origin of the above copy and the reason for sending same to Rand, Santa Monica.

ROWEN suggested that the Pentagon, from which that letter first came, may have a policy of not dating originals since it takes too long, from the date an original is made, before copies can be prepared and distributed. Thus, only the copies are dated when they are finally ready for distribution. He thought the date of the original may be considered unnecessary as long as the copies are dated.

HENRY S. ROWEN, President, Rand Corporation, 1700 Main, Santa Monica, California, was interviewed and advised as follows.

ROWEN was questioned concerning an article appearing in the September/October 1971 issue of the "Columbia Journalism Review" by JULES WITCOVER of the "Los Angeles Times" in which WITCOVER related that BEN HAIG BAGDIKIAN, assistant managing editor, "The Washington Post," inquired of ROWEN concerning a Rand Corporation study on the advisability of withdrawal from Vietnam prior to the publication of the Vietnam Study by the "New York Times" on June 13, 1971.

ROWEN stated he vaguely recalls receiving a telephone call from [redacted] one or two days prior to June 13, 1971. ROWEN stated he made no notes concerning the call but recalls that [redacted] had inquired whether there had been a Rand Corporation study on the Vietnam war. It was ROWEN's impression that [redacted] was asking about a study that had possibly been prepared many years ago, perhaps in the 1950's, and he did not associate it with the McNamara Study. He stated that [redacted] may have mentioned something like "advisability of withdrawal" in referring to the possible Rand study; however, ROWEN stated his recollection of the exact words is very dim. ROWEN continued that not associating [redacted]'s inquiry with the McNamara Study, he told him that he knew of no such Rand study "and drew a blank."

ROWEN stated that after the disclosures by the "New York Times" and on the night prior to the publishing of the classified papers by "The Washington Post," he had attempted to call [redacted] for the purpose of inquiring of him, as a friend, for advice concerning the handling of press relations by the Rand Corporation.

ROWEN stated he was unable to reach [redacted] and spoke with [redacted] instead and learned that she and her husband had separated.

ROWEN recalls that the next day [REDACTED] returned his call; however, ROWEN stated that as "The Washington Post" had now started to publish the classified papers, he told [REDACTED] that there was no point in discussing what he had on his mind the previous evening. ROWEN added that during their conversation [REDACTED] made no statements concerning the manner in which "The Washington Post" acquired their material nor any of the mechanics involved.

ROWEN added that he recalls he received a telephone call approximately June 14, 1971, from reporter [REDACTED] of "The Washington Post," with whom he is acquainted, at which time [REDACTED] ER inquired regarding Rand's participation in the "Vietnam Study." ROWEN stated that he "pleaded ignorance" and gave [REDACTED] no information.

[redacted] Rand Corporation, 1700 [redacted] Main Street, Santa Monica, California, was interviewed at his office at the Rand Corporation by Special Agents of the FBI. The nature of the inquiry was explained to him and he furnished the following information:

He first met [redacted] during the summer of 1962 at a summer study. [redacted] was then employed by the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency. He last saw [redacted] in about 1964.

He knows [redacted] is associated with the Institute of Policy Studies (IPS), Washington, D. C., an organization headed by [redacted]. He added an individual named [redacted]. He described [redacted] and [redacted] as being political revolutionaries, all of whom are serious, bright and well informed. He added that he considers Daniel Ellsberg as a political revolutionary and very much like [redacted]. He mentioned this institute holds monthly meetings with congressional assistants, whom he described as being an extremely powerful group who are able to exert tremendous leverage and who are undoubtedly influenced in their thinking by the IPS, in Washington, D. C.

[redacted] did not know whether [redacted] has ever associated with Daniel Ellsberg, Anthony Russo, Paul Warnke, Morton Halperin or Leslie Gelb. He assumes that because of their mutual interest, political views and circles in which they travel, that Ellsberg and [redacted] are acquainted and must have come in contact with one another at some time, possibly through the IPS. He pointed out, however, that this was conjecture on his part but said he would be quite surprised if they were not acquainted.

He could furnish no information relative to [redacted] acquiring copies of the Pentagon papers.

[redacted] continued stating that [redacted] who is with the Center for International Affairs, Harvard [REDACTED], recently visited his office at Rand Corporation. During their conversation [REDACTED] mentioned he had attended a meeting of the Council of Foreign Relations in New York City during the past year where Daniel Ellsberg was in attendance. While reviewing a paper at this meeting which related to the Cuban Missile Crisis, he noted Ellsberg had made a penciled footnote on the paper to the effect "we knew more missiles came out than we knew went in". [REDACTED] questioned Ellsberg relative to this footnote and Ellsberg stated he had in his possession the documentation to back up this statement which he could show [REDACTED] at any time.

[REDACTED] surmised because of the above remark that Daniel Ellsberg had in his possession classified documents relating to the Cuban Missile Crisis and further speculated that classified documents concerning the Cuban Missile Crisis were among Ellsberg's personal effects held in storage by the Bekins Van and Storage Company, Beverly Hills, California.

Russo Mum Unless He Gets Transcript

Anthony Russo, a primary figure in the Pentagon Papers case, has refused to testify before a special Federal Grand jury because a transcript of the proceedings would not be furnished him.

Russo, 34, was a former associate of Dr. Daniel Ellsberg at the Rand Corp. in Santa Monica. Ellsberg, the former Pentagon researcher, has been indicted by the grand jury on charges of unauthorized possession of the secret papers, a study of American involvement in Vietnam.

On Oct. 2, U.S. Dist. Court Judge Warren J. Ferguson set the stage for yesterday's testimony by freeing Russo from prison and agreeing to make the grand jury proceedings public, which Russo demanded.

Grand jury proceedings are nearly always secret.

Prior to entering the jury room yesterday, Asst. U.S. Atty. David R. Nissen told Russo the government would not provide him a transcript of the proceedings.

Russo refused to testify without promise of a transcript, and Nissen, the reluctant witness and his attorney, Michael Balaban, went to Judge Ferguson's courtroom.

Nissen asked the judge to vacate his order for a transcript on the grounds that it would be "devastating" to the grand jury system.

Nissen argued that —under the precedent-setting court order—grand jury proceedings would be divulged to those who may be involved in the case and later indicted.

"If a grand jury is forced to provide transcripts, it can't fulfill its function," Nissen said.

Nissen asked that Russo be required to appear and testify before the panel even though the transcript requirement be reversed.

Judge Ferguson said he would take the matter under submission and come to a decision later.

Probe of Pentagon Papers Leak Delayed as Justice Dept. Balks

BY HOWARD HERTEL and TED SELL

Times Staff Writers

A federal grand jury investigation of a leak in secret Pentagon papers was delayed in Los Angeles Monday when the Justice Department refused to abide by a court order giving a witness a transcript of his testimony.

Asst. U.S. Atty. David Nissen announced the department's decision as Anthony J. Russo appeared at the grand jury room in the U.S. Courthouse.

Russo, who earlier served 45 days for contempt of court, was freed Oct. 1 after agreeing to testify under what is believed to be an unprecedented condition that public disclosure of a transcript of proceedings would be made in 36 hours.

U.S. Dist. Judge Warren J. Ferguson, who issued the order on Oct. 1, heard arguments by Nissen questioning legality of the agreement and by Dep. Public Defender Michael Balaban.

He took the new matter under submission, but permitted Russo to remain free pending a decision.

Justice Department sources indicated that if Ferguson upholds his earlier ruling, the department will appeal to the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals—and perhaps higher—if necessary to protect secrecy of grand jury proceedings.

Russo was an associate of Dr. Daniel Ellsberg when the latter was an analyst at the Rand Corp. in Santa Monica.

Ellsberg has been indicted for illegally possessing secret government documents and disclosing them to the press earlier this year. The documents described decisions made by government officials about U.S. involvement in Vietnam.

Russo served his contempt sentence at the Terminal Island Federal Detention Facility after refusing to testify before a grand jury investigating Ellsberg.

Nissen, in arguing his case before Ferguson, said:

"I would ask that the court vacate its (Oct. 1) order and permit the grand jury to operate in its normal fashion."

Nissen's argument was that if Ferguson's order was obeyed then "the very people who might be under investigation" would be able to determine what other witnesses had said in jury sessions.

Ferguson noted that witnesses in the past had been permitted under federal rule to discuss with the press their own version of what they testified to.

Then Ferguson asked:

Isn't it better for the United States to have things accurately reported?

Nissen replied, "I think it would be better for it not to be reported at all while a case is under investigation."

He later added, "If a grand jury is forced to reveal its investigation to the very people it is investigating then the investigation will necessarily fail."

In arguing Russo's case, Balaban said Russo had appeared as scheduled to testify before the grand jury under the previous agreement, but that Nissen and jury foreman Mrs. Patricia Jones had appeared at the entrance to the hearing room and Nissen told Balaban that he "thought the court order was unlawful" and therefore would not obey it.

At that Russo refused to enter the grand jury room until the action had been brought before the court.

Ellsberg Case Papers Back, U.S. Reports

The 31 boxes containing the "Ellsberg Papers," seized by FBI agents from a Beverly Hills warehouse last month, were all returned to the warehouse within four days, it was disclosed in federal court here Monday.

Attorneys Charles Nesson and Arthur J. Berman were appearing before U.S. Dist. Judge Matt Byrne on behalf of Ellsberg to request appointment of someone to inventory the material in the boxes when Justice Department attorney David R. Nissen said the boxes had already been returned.

Nissen, who had obtained the search warrant authorizing the seizure of the papers, said nothing in the 31 boxes was kept by the government. "No copies or memoranda were made" but agents did catalog the items, he said.

Byrne refused to appoint a special master to make an inventory of the items, but he said the government and defense attorneys could select a mutually acceptable individual, have him make an inventory and file it with the court.

Ellsberg and his attorneys have maintained that the papers, stored almost 18 months ago with Bekins Van & Storage, were only personal mementos and possessions.

Government attorneys

ment documents.

Byrne set a hearing Jan. 4 on a motion by Ellsberg's attorneys to suppress any evidence obtained in the seizure.

In September 1970, Daniel Ellsberg appeared at the shop to make arrangements to have copies printed of a speech he was to deliver at the Biltmore Hotel in Los Angeles, a few days thereafter. He recalls the title of the speech as "Escalation in a Quagmire".

The order called for 200 copies consisting of 75 pages each offset printing costing $255, and 395 single page xerox copies at ten cents each for a total of $39.50. Collating and stapling costs totaled $62.50; was was $16.20 for a total bill of $373.20.

Re New York teletype, 10/28/71.

On 11/5/71, [REDACTED]
copies of purchase tickets for [REDACTED]
Company credit account [REDACTED]

These are enclosed for the New York Office for analysis by that office.

The tickets represent a total of 54 purchases with the date and place of purchase indicated on the ticket. The place of purchase is illegible on two of the tickets. All the other purchases were made at the service station [REDACTED]

With regard to the illegible tickets, [REDACTED] has explained this is caused by a malfunction of the credit card machine in possession of the individual dealer.

According to Senator Beall, several of his constituents have protested "the FBI investigation of the Unitarian Church of Boston bank records."

Review of this Bureau's actions relative to the matter in question has determined that these actions were entirely proper and were in accordance with a specific request of Departmental attorneys handling this case in Boston, Massachusetts. Senator Beall has been so advised in response to his inquiry.

[redacted] contacted on [redacted] by Special Agents [redacted] who identified themselves as Special Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. [redacted] was advised the interview concerned his association with DANIEL ELLSBERG.

[redacted] he was living with his parents in Denver, Colorado, in the spring of 1969, when he first met DANIEL ELLSBERG. At that time, [redacted] was wearing his hair long and associating with persons of whom his father did not approve. During this period of friction between [redacted] and his father, DANIEL ELLSBERG came to visit. ELLSBERG was [redacted] friend of [redacted] father. His two-day stay helped [redacted] and his father achieve a better understanding of each other. ELLSBERG seemed to be able to understand the differences that existed between the two and was able to relate to them both. [redacted] stated ELLSBERG was instrumental in relieving the tensions that existed in the home at that time.

During his visit, ELLSBERG did not mention his employment nor did he indicate his dissatisfaction with the U.S. Government or the role it was playing in the Vietnam war. He gave no indication of any plans for the disclosure of classified documents by himself or any organization or individual.

ELLSBERG concerned himself primarily with helping [redacted] resolve their differences, and did not discuss his personal philosophy.

Approximately six months after his initial visit, ELLSBERG again came to visit for a day and again the attention centered around [redacted] and his father. No mention was ever made of plans to release classified information. [redacted] stated he never went on any trips with ELLSBERG nor was he introduced to anyone by him.

Harris' Supporters Closing Denver Office

A regional campaign office in Denver for Democratic Sen. Fred Harris of Oklahoma was being shut down Thursday—actually before it could open.

The regional director of the Harris-for-president drive was to be Sam Brown, 28, organizer of the Vietnam Moratorium in Washington in 1969.

Brown was philosophical Thursday about the senator's withdrawal late Wednesday from presidential campaigning.

"I told the people here we could have a grand opening and a going-out-of-business sale at the same time," Brown said.

TELEPHONES IN

The office was being set up at 1550 Downing St. Telephones (893-1636) had just been installed, and a few workers for Harris were on the job.

Brown had been appointed to coordinate the Oklahoma senator's campaign in 16 Western states.

"It was a surprise to all of us, of course," Brown said.

He thinks Harris' decision came suddenly—"in four or five days"—when the senator realized it didn't make sense to go further without adequate campaign funds.

"We spent part of the day yesterday commiserating with each other, by long distance," Brown said, "and then in the afternoon we talked here (in Denver) about what we might do."

Brown said he doesn't know yet what the role of the Harris activities might be in the 1972 campaign.

"I have every anticipation that we're going to be doing something—hopefully something interesting," he said.

Brown was chairman of the Vietnam Moratorium Committee, which organized massive peaceful demonstrations in Washington and other cities in the fall of 1969. He moved to Colorado after closing the Washington Moratorium office early in 1970.

Locally, Harris supporters had just started building an organization, keyed to the "new populist" theme of the Oklahoma senator. Frank Lynch, Pueblo Democratic leader, had been unofficial coordinator for Harris for some time.

The cover of the document indicates it is copy 30 of 45 copies. On 11/14/71 Ellsberg and his current wife Patricia entertained the Ellsberg children during late afternoon hours and departed Los Angeles on 11/15/71. [redacted] advised Los Angeles Office she was unable to learn anything of consequence concerning instant investigation during Ellsberg's stay in Los Angeles from [redacted]

Monitoring of the bank account of [redacted] of [redacted] has revealed transactions by her which would place her in the Cambridge, Massachusetts, area on 8/10/71 and 8/8/71. The first date would have been two weeks prior to the occasion of duplication of classified documents in this matter at Cambridge by Neil and Susan Sheehan, the latter employees of "The New York Times." The 8/8/71 date would probably have coincided with the weekend on which Daniel Ellsberg is known to have participated in anti-Vietnam War demonstrations at the John F. Kennedy Building in Boston.

The daily newspaper of the Harvard University at Cambridge, Massachusetts, carried an announcement on 11/15/71 that Ellsberg would give a "major speech" at Lowell Auditorium, Harvard University, 11/17/71. Boston Office will afford appropriate coverage of this speech.

LEAKS OF CLASSIFIED INFORMATION TO THE PRESS

To summarize, for information, recent developments in our continuing investigations of alleged leaks of classified data to the press.

MC LEX (Daniel Ellsberg): It is noted that Anthony J. Russo, Jr., a close associate of Ellsberg who assisted him in copying classified documents in the Los Angeles area in 10/69,

On 11/15/71 our Los Angeles Office learned from the Los Angeles City Attorney's Office that, based on Russo's activity during and subsequent to the above

The "Washington Post" of 11/16/71 on page A-4 carries an article captioned "Firing of Rand Chief Tied To Pentagon Leak." The article indicates that the president of Rand Corporation, Harry S. Rosen, was fired on 11/15/71, apparently as a result of congressional criticism of Rand Corporation's management and that the decision had been made last week at the semiannual meeting of the Board of Trustees. On 11/15/71, Administrator, Rand Corporation, Washington, D.C., advised our Washington Field Office that upon return to Washington from California on 11/15/71, Dr. [redacted] Rand Corporation, announced that Rosen had submitted his resignation to be effective in 18 months or at such time that Rand finds a suitable replacement. [redacted] announced that Congress had cut Rand's requested budget by $3,000,000 and indicated this would probably result in a force reduction.
